CAMBRIDGE INTERNATIONAL EXAMINATIONS

Joint Examination for the School Certificate and General Certificate of Education Ordinary Level

sociology 2251/2

PAPER 2

OCTOBER/NOVEMBER SESSION 2002

1 hour 45 minutes

Additional materials: Answer paper

TIME 1 hour 45 minutes

INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES

Write your name, Centre number and candidate number in the spaces provided on the answer paper/answer booklet.

Answer three questions.

Answer no more than two questions from any one section.

Write your answers on the separate answer paper provided.

If you use more than one sheet of paper, fasten the sheets together.

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

The number of marks is given in brackets [] at the end of each question or part question.

This question paper consists of 7 printed pages and 1 blank page.

Section A

The Family and Kinship

1		The importance of the nuclear family in modern industrialised societies has declined. There are many other types of family today.
	(a)	What is meant by the term nuclear family ?	[2]
	(b)	Describe two other types of family.	[4]
	(c)	What factors have led to the decline of the nuclear family?	[7]
	(d)	To what extent is family life still important despite the decline of the nuclear family in mod industrialised societies?	lern [7]
2	During the last century the relationship between husband and wife has changed considerably in modern industrialised societies. The relationship between parents and children has also changed
	(a)	What have been the main changes in the relationship between husband and wife?	[5]
	(b)	What factors might explain changes in the relationship between husband and wife?	[5]
	(c)	To what extent do women have equal relationships with men in the family in mod industrialised societies?	lern [5]
	(d)	In what ways has the relationship between parents and children in modern industrialis societies changed over the last century?	sed [5]
3	People are marrying later and are more likely to live together before marriage in modern industrialised societies. They are also having fewer children.
	(a)	Describe two reasons why people are marrying later in modern industrialised societies.	[4]
	(b)	What are the social factors that lead people to want smaller families?	[5]
	(c)	What are the social consequences of people having fewer children?	[5]
	(d)	To what extent is the institution of marriage in decline in modern industrialised societies?	[6]

Section B

Education

4		higher a child's parents are in the class structure, the greater that child's chances of succenter formal education system.	∋ss
	(a)	What is meant by formal education?	[2]
	(b)	In what ways might home background influence a child's chances of educational success	ss? [6]
	(c)	What social factors within schools may encourage or discourage pupils in their studies?	[6]
	(d)	What can schools do to help children from poor families to improve their chances educational success?	of [6]
5	Schools and colleges in industrialised societies have developed mainly as a result of the new more highly skilled workers. For children in many less industrialised countries, however, information systems of education are still the most effective way of acquiring skills.
	(a)	What is meant by informal education?	[2]
	(b)	Why is informal education usually found in less industrialised societies?	[6]
	(c)	In what ways do schools prepare young people for work?	[6]
	(d)	Apart from preparing young people for work, what other social functions do schools perfor	m? [6]
6 In some societies young people are seen as a separate group with		ome societies young people are seen as a separate group with a distinctive youth culture.
	(a)	What is meant by youth culture?	[2]
	(b)	Describe two examples of youth culture.	[4]
	(c)	What factors might explain the growth of youth culture in modern industrialised societies?	[6]
	(d)	To what extent do youth cultures represent a threat to the dominant values of society?	[8]

2251/2/O/N/02 [Turn over

Section C

Culture, Communications and the Mass Media

There are certain images and stereotypes that are often presented in the mass media. For •	example, the mass media may create a particular image of women through the use of photographs and language.

7

	(a)	What is meant by stereotypes?	[2]
	(b)	What images of women are created by the mass media?	[4]
	(c)	How might stereotypes of women in the mass media affect women's lives?	[6]
[8]	(d)	What explanations have been offered for the ways that the mass media influence behaviou	r?
8	In most industrialised societies ownership of the mass media rests in the hands of a few large companies. However, the owners are not the only influence on the content of the mass media.
	(a)	In what ways might the owners be able to influence the content of the mass media?	[5]
	(b)	Apart from the owners, who else can influence the content of the mass media?	[5]
	(c)	Why might control of the mass media be considered an important source of power in mode society?	ern [5]
	(d)	What actions might governments take to prevent the owners of the mass media becoming to powerful?	00 [5]
		mass media are now the main source of information and ideas for the majority of the workulation. Local cultures and traditional ways of life are threatened by this developme ticularly because young people are strongly influenced by the media.
	(a)	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	ıss [5]
	(b)	Why might the mass media be a threat to local cultures and traditional ways of life?	[5]
	(c)	How might the lifestyles of young people be influenced by the mass media?	[5]
	(d)	To what extent do the mass media help to improve the quality of people's lives?	[5]

Section D

Occupations

10		omation and microchip technology are changing the workplace. Although new technology by advantages it may also make work less satisfying.	has
	(a)	What is meant by automation?	[2]
	(b)	What are the advantages of automation?	[4]
	(c)	Why might automation make work less satisfying for many workers?	[6]
	(d)	What impact have changes in technology had on the occupational structure of industrialised countries over the last century?	the [8]
11 The process of moving from agricultural to large-scale factory production is known industrialisation. There are many differences between work in industrial and pre-industrial
	(a)	Describe the reasons why people work in industrialised societies.	[5]
	(b)	What are the main differences between work in pre-industrial and industrialised societies?	? [5]
	(c)	How might a person's quality of life be affected by the type of work they do?	[5]
	(d)	What links have been identified between work and leisure in industrialised societies?	[5]
12 One way of measuring the extent of industrial conflict is by the number of strikes. The types of strikes: official and unofficial.			two
	(a)	What is the difference between official and unofficial strikes?	[2]
	(b)	What are the main causes of strikes?	[6]
	(c)	To what extent is the number of strikes an accurate measure of the extent of industrial con in society?	flict [6]
	(d)	In what ways do trade unions help to reduce the level of industrial conflict in society?	[6]

2251/2/O/N/02 [Turn over

Section E

Population

13 As life expectancy increases in industrialised societies, the proportion of elderly people in the pop	ulation grows. There are problems associated with an ageing population.

	(a)	What is meant by an ageing population?	[2]
	(b)	Why are people living longer today?	[6]
	(c)	What are the social consequences of an ageing population?	[6]
	(d)	What might governments do to address the problems created by an ageing population?	[6]
14		rld population is growing rapidly and this is leading to many problems in less industrialis ntries.	sed
	(a)	What are the main causes of rapid population increase in less industrialised countries?	[5]
	(b)	In what ways might a rapidly growing population create problems for a society?	[5]
	(c)	How might modern industrialised societies be affected by the growth in world population?	[5]
	(d)	What might governments do to encourage people to have smaller families in le industrialised countries?	ess [5]
15		ess industrialised countries most deaths and illnesses are associated with poverty. In mustrialised countries diseases of affluence are increasingly common.	ore
	(a)	What is meant by diseases of affluence?	[2]
	(b)	What kinds of illnesses most commonly lead to death in less industrialised countries?	[6]
	(c)	What kinds of illnesses most commonly lead to death in more industrialised countries?	[6]
	(d)	What might governments do to improve health conditions in less industrialised countries?	[6]

Section F

Crime and Delinquency

16 Social control is the process that encourages people to conform to the norms and values of a society. Sociologists distinguish between formal and informal social control.

	(a)	What is meant by informal social control?	[2]
	(b)	What are the main sources of informal social control?	[4]
	(c)	How are formal social controls enforced?	[6]
	(d)	To what extent does social control serve the interests of the most powerful groups in socie	ety? [8]
17	The official crime statistics should be treated with great caution. Many people do not report crimes to the police and the police do not always record crimes that have been reported to them.
	(a)	Why might some crimes not be reported to the police?	[5]
	(b)	How might the activities of the police affect the types of crimes and offenders that appear the official crime statistics?	r in [5]
	(c)	Women appear to commit fewer crimes than men. How might this be explained?	[5]
	(d)	Apart from official statistics, what other ways are there of measuring the amount of crime i society?	in a [5]
18	8 Levels of crime in industrialised societies are much higher in inner city areas. Working class you people have higher rates of crime than young people from the middle class.
	(a)	What reasons have sociologists given for the concentration of crime in inner city areas?	[5]
	(b)	Why is crime among young people often linked to the use of illegal drugs?	[5]
	(c)	Why do working class young people have higher rates of crime than middle class you people?	ung [5]
	(d)	To what extent is crime linked to unemployment?	[5]

BLANK PAGE